Learning objectives: The student <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. understands the diachronous aspects of phonological, grammatical, and lexical specificities of the German language from the Old High German until today 2. understands the chronology of the High German language evolution including the linguistic transformations 3. understands the unification processes in the creation of the supra-regional, single German language 4. gains experience with the plurality of German dialects in German-speaking countries and Slovak diasporas 5. gets acquainted with the oldest as well as current tendencies in the evolution of this language 6. can apply this knowledge to analyse the selected historical texts in German Brief outline of the course: The course focuses on the chronology of changes undergone by the High German language in the social context. The pre-literary period and the Gothic language are addressed as well. Diachronous aspects of German phonology, morphology, syntax, and vocabulary are addressed systematically. The course explains how German evolved, its standardisation, and the role of Martin Luther’s Bible translation. Selected chapters from German dialectology and German language “islands” in Slovakia are also addressed. The descriptions of the language changes are illustrated by evidence and the course involves interpretation exercises as well. They focus on enhancing the knowledge of language-related facts as well the student's understanding of the contemporary German language structure.

Course Description

University: Matej Bel University in Banská Bystrica
Faculty: Faculty of Arts
Code: 1d-lin-024	Course name: German Lexical Seminar
Type, extent and method of instruction: Form of instruction: Seminar Course type: B (A - Compulsory courses, B - Compulsory elective courses, C - Elective courses) Recommended number of periods: 26 Method of study: combined
Number of credits: 5
Recommended semester/trimester: 2., 4., 6.
Level: I.
Prerequisites:
Course completion conditions: Attending the seminars is mandatory (no more than 3 absences), preparation for the seminars – fulfilling the given assignments, active participation, acquiring the minimum of 65 points out of a possible 100 for the test. The course must be enrolled through AIS. The student has the right to one resit of the written test. The course assessment corresponds to the A-FX grading scale: A (100 – 94%), B (93 – 87%), C (86 – 80%), D (79 – 73%), E (72 – 65%). b) final assessment: test: 100%
Learning objectives: Students will be able to: 1. identify subtle semantic and stylistic differences (nuances) of two German words which are similar in content, 2. differentiate the meaning of formally similar German words (e. g. different prefixes and the same root of the word) as well as within the language pair German – Slovak (e. g. faux amis – false friends), 3. remember the selected phrases and idioms in German and Slovak and they will be aware of their specifics on the expressional level, 4. apply the aforementioned knowledge in the process of text production and reception, i.e. deciding the adequate German or Slovak variant in the context of a translation.
Brief outline of the course: Work with the basic word classes (mostly nouns, adjectives and verbs), idioms and phrasal units – the emphasis is put on the peculiarities typical for the mentioned word classes and phrasal units from the contrastive point of view within the language pair German – Slovak: e.g. often confused words – similarly sounding words that possess different meaning, e.g. words which have the same root and different affixes, synonymous verbs – one Slovak expression has more German expressions but they cannot be used interchangeably; phrasal units and their equivalents in the opposite language pointing out the discrepancy between form and content.

Course Description

University: Matej Bel University in Banská Bystrica
Faculty: Faculty of Arts
Code: 1d-lit-057	Course name: German-language literature on film
Type, extent and method of instruction: Form of instruction: Seminar Course type: B (A - Compulsory courses, B - Compulsory elective courses, C - Elective courses) Recommended number of periods: 26 Method of study: combined
Number of credits: 5
Recommended semester/trimester: 3., 5.
Level: I.
Prerequisites:
Course completion conditions: During the semester, students prepare a presentation of one literary work and its film adaptation. They will submit a seminar paper, a length of 8 pages, during the examination period. In case of receiving the assessment FX students have the right to make one revision of the seminar paper. The course assessment corresponds to the A – FX grading scale. Credits are assigned to students who acquire a minimum of 65 points out of a possible 100. A prerequisite for the successful completion of the course is the acquaintance with literary texts and their film adaptation during self-study.
a) continuous assessment: presentation in the seminar: 0 – 20 points
b) final assessment: seminar paper: 0 – 80 points
Learning objectives: Students will be able to understand the basic concepts of literary and film aesthetics and poetics. They will be able to understand knowledge about the development of filmmaking in the German-speaking countries in cultural-historical and socio-historical contexts. They will use the acquired input knowledge in creative work with literary and film texts. They can apply it in independent analysis of a film adaptation and its comparison with the literary template. They are able to communicate and justify the results of the analysis and comparison in a structured form. They will create a seminar paper on a selected topic.
Brief outline of the course: Basic concepts of film art. Semiotics of film work. Film adaptation as a hybrid art form. Literary and film narration (telling, showing). Literary and film media. Film and cultural memory. Film adaptations from silent film (Friedrich Wilhelm Murnau) to the Berlin school (Christian Petzold). New German Cinema (Volker Schlöndorff, Rainer Werner Fassbinder, Wim Wenders). DEFA movies (Frank Beyer, Heiner Carow). New Austrian Film (Michael Haneke). Selected examples of film adaptations. Canonical German-language literary works in a foreign-language film adaptation.

Number of credits: 5
Recommended semester/trimester: 5.
Level: I.
Prerequisites:
Course completion conditions: A student has right for one resit of a final oral exam. a) continuous assessment: assignment in course of a semester: 0-20 points mid-term oral exam: 0 – 30 points b) final assessment: oral exam (interpreting): 0-50 points, for all parts together (assignments in course of a semester, oral exam): 0 – 100 points
Learning objectives: Students will be able to acquire basic practical skills in consecutive and simultaneous interpreting and apply the acquired theoretical knowledge (e.g. specific interpreting strategies) of interpretation in practice.
Brief outline of the course: The system of exercises in consecutive and simultaneous interpreting is focused on the developing of skills and habits in apperception of segment produced communiqués and presentation of segments in the target language. Exercises include reciprocal interpreting: Slovak - German, German- Slovak and they are in progress with the gradual gradation of linguistic complexity of the texts, speech rate and the severity of the interpreting conditions. The emphasis is on the removal of language deficit and creation of one's own habits of interpreting reactions. Selected communiqués with lower degree of linguistic difficulty, but this linguistic difficulty is gradually increasing and the main component of the exercises is expansion and refining of vocabularies when developing the interpreting competence. The main theme is "the European Union" and the terminology associated with it, so the majority of texts and language communiqués is focused on this field.

Faculty: Faculty of Arts
Code: 1d-lin-030	Course name: Text Linguistics GE
Type, extent and method of instruction: Form of instruction: Lecture / Seminar Course type: B (A - Compulsory courses, B - Compulsory elective courses, C - Elective courses) Recommended number of periods: 13 / 13 Method of study: combined
Number of credits: 5
Recommended semester/trimester: 3., 5.
Level: I.
Prerequisites:
Course completion conditions: Presence in class is required (a maximum of three absences), preparation of a seminar paper – work on the assigned tasks, active participation in classes, acquisition of a minimal knowledge level (a minimum of 65% of assessment of the exam), successfully passing the oral exam. Students must be enrolled in this course through AIS during the particular period. A student has a right for one regular term and one resit of the written exam and one resit of an oral exam. The course assessment corresponds to the A-FX grading scale: A (100 – 94%), B (93 – 87%), C (86 – 80%), D (79 – 73%), E (72 – 65%). b) final assessment: written exam - 40% and oral exam – 60%
Learning objectives: Students will: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. be able to characterize text linguistics as a scientific discipline, define the basic stages of its development from its formation to the present days and incorporate it into the system of other disciplines, 2. be familiar with different approaches to classification of texts, be able to evaluate their pros and cons, and apply the given knowledge in practice (i.e. they will be able to comment on possibilities of text exemplars classification to the appropriate text classes), 3. be able to comment on the concept of text from the process aspect (production and reception of texts) and reflect the theoretical knowledge into practice, 4. be able to comment on the specifics of the different types resp. text classes in theoretical level (i. e. they will know the possible criteria to evaluate a text’s properties) as well as a practical level (i.e. will be able to analyse particular test exemplars on the basis of appropriate criteria).
Brief outline of the course: In relation to current trends in text linguistics directing to the pragmatic-cognitive understanding of textuality, the course is focused on introducing the concept of text in context different historically-based concepts with accentuation of the final pragmatic-cognitive stage. This perception of the concept of text also implies clarifying the media impact (character of the text and its specifics on the background of different media realizations - e-texts, texts on television, etc.) as well as process aspects (reception and production of a text). The explanation of this term, introducing the concept of text as a phenomenon and application of a prototype theory point out the cause of difficulties of unambiguous definition of the concept of a text.
