Prerequisites:
Course completion conditions: 1) collect min. 100 credits, 2) create a Diploma thesis and submit it by the deadline specified in the schedule of the academic year. The Diploma thesis has to be create in accordance with Directive No. 12/2011 on final, rigorous, and habilitation theses at MBU. 3) The thesis is reviewed by two reviewers; at least one of them has to recommend the thesis to be defended. 4) Successful Diploma thesis defence.
b) final assessment: The state examination involves a colloquial defence of the Diploma thesis (DT). The State Examination Commission provides a complex evaluation of the DT quality based on the reviews and student's thesis defence. The Diploma thesis is defended during a colloquium. The questions address the broader context of the subject matter addressed in the thesis. The student is required to prove they have developed complex knowledge during their study. They demonstrate their creative thinking and the ability to address specific theoretical and practical problems pertaining to their field of study. The thesis is graded based on the evaluation criteria and the student's ability to defend the results of their own research. Diploma thesis evaluation criteria: topicality of the subject matter, goal selection and the logic of framework, achievement of the goal and the results, proportionality in terms of structure and overall composition, mastering the subject matter (heuristics), selecting and mastering the procedures, working techniques and methods within the field, originality, overall quality, overall results and the possibility of their practical application.
Learning objectives: By passing the state exam and defending their Diploma thesis, the student 1) proves they have the theoretical knowledge of the subject matter; they can use the field-specific techniques and methods in practice 2) can develop the theoretical and practical knowledge and use it; accumulate, interpret, and process information sources; present the knowledge of the subject matter, theory, and specialised terminology; understand the basic contexts of the subject matter; formulate preliminary hypotheses and draw conclusions; verify research results and evaluate the contribution of their own research, 3) uses relevant specialised sources and identifies the ideas important for the subject matter addressed; their theoretical knowledge of the research topic in terms of practical diagnostic and didactic application; the field-specific knowledge to explain the subject matter in the pragmatic context; bibliographic and citation standards, 4) can analyse the subject matter in a logical manner and create an appropriate structure; create and verify procedures; use subject-specific techniques and methods and verify them; interpret the experience; approach the subject matter in a logical, critical, and contextual manner; engage in specialised communication and defend their view of the subject matter using proper arguments, approach their field of study in a creative way; 5) can create a consistent specialised text in which they approach the relevant specialised sources in a critical manner; formulate their own ideas and conclusions regarding the given social, scholarly, and ethical problems; propose a way to address the subject matter.

Brief outline of the course:

1) Diploma thesis literature research, 2) archive collection research, 3) establishment of a relevant source database, 4) critical analysis and interpretation of the historical facts, 5) consulting the supervisor, 6) drafting the first DT version, 7) drafting the second DT version.

Learning objectives: . The course does not focus on the acquisition of facts presented in the traditional history of events but rather on the acquisition of knowledge through anthropological and semantic methods and based on a multi-perspective approach. 2. Students will be led to analyse the abstract symbolic aspects of life and historical memory in the context of neighbouring cultures, which will allow them to recognize less apparent but essential facets of national and civil formation processes in the 19th century. 3. Students will develop a deeper, more structured and less conventional image of the Slovak national identity formation (and neighbouring nations), they will understand the vigour and limits of modern nationalism, as well as specific aspects of the development of Slovak society that determined its historical memory and mentality during the 20th century.
Brief outline of the course: 1. The concept of modern national identity. Factors and tools of its formation and establishment. 2. The changes in historiography – formation of national historiographies and transformation of historical memory. Historicism as a tool of national emancipation. 3. Historical concepts of Slovak history in the 19th century – between the idea of the Hungarian Empire and the idea of a thousand-year oppression.

4. Great Moravia and its rise to a national symbol.
5. National symbols, the specific elements of symbols. Theoretical definition of symbols and national symbols, their functions, forms, structure, determinants.
6. Creators, bearers and recipients of symbols. Symbols and stereotypes, celebrations, myths.
7. Historical and natural symbols. An intimate understanding of one's own country.
8. Leading figures as symbols and their celebrations.
9. Folk culture vs. high culture in pursuit of one's own symbols.
10. History and presence of heraldic symbols and anthems.
11. The role of the state and political power in the formation of historical memory and world of national symbols. Their marginalization.
12. Radical changes in memory and symbology after 1918.
