Prerequisites:
Course completion conditions: The prerequisite for passing the course is attendance at a minimum of 90% of the teaching and active participation of students in class. The evaluation is in accordance with the classification scale according to the Study Regulations of Matej Bel University. a) continuous assessment: Continuous evaluation is not performed. b) final assessment: The basis for the award of the final grade is the demonstration of mastery of the knowledge of the lecture material, which is demonstrated in an active dialogue with the teacher in the teaching of the subject.
Learning objectives: The aim of the subject is to present the basic features of the development of the state and law from ancient times to the 20th century. It is intended to clarify to the student how law was born, what stages of development it went through in terms of form and content, with an emphasis on the development of public and private law (basically) in the countries of Europe and the USA. After completing the subject, the student should be able to understand the historical context, understand the authentic meaning and content of contemporary terms, clarify the meaning and content of legal institutes, critically evaluate historical legal institutes, the philosophical and value roots of law, and on their basis should be able to create his own opinion on current law and legal systems (not only) in the European area.
Brief outline of the course: Basic characteristics of the state establishment in the Greek poleis. Greek ancient law. Ancient Rome – constitutional development in individual periods. Brief basics of Roman law - selected institutes. Medieval state and law; feudalism and the feudal system. Sources of medieval law in Europe. Reception of Roman law. Medieval public and private law. Specifics of the Anglo-Saxon legal system. Modern age - anti-feudal revolutions, constitutionalism, modern law codifications. The origin and development of the United States of America. US law. The French Revolution, the codification of law during the reign of Napoleon, the influence on the development of modern law.

Learning objectives: The student uses the relevant specialised literature to obtain the knowledge from the field. They understand how Romance languages developed throughout the history. The student can compare their phonetic and phonological, grammatical, and lexical systems, and draw conclusions in the multilingual communication context. The student can partially comprehend any text in a Romance language they did not study before based on their general theoretical knowledge and practical communication skills.
Brief outline of the course: I. Romance languages in the diachronous perspective. The historical development of Romance languages from Latin until today. The phonetic and phonological systems of Romance languages – a contrastive viewpoint. An overview of the basic knowledge pertaining to the Romance language grammar. II. Romance languages in the synchronous perspective. Comparing grammatical systems of the contemporary Romance languages with the focus on their morphosyntax: nouns and verbs. Transparent areas in the Romance lexis. III Contemporary Romance languages. The position of Romance languages from the viewpoint of sociolinguistics (statute, territories). Language policies in Romance speaking countries and their goals. The seminars focus on enhancing practical communication skills in Romance languages as well.

Total: 0–70 p. b) final assessment: completing the final self-reflective evaluation report addressing the activities performed and their results including the relevant appendices (activity plan, promotion, list of attendees, photo documentation), and recommendations 0–30 p. The grading scale: A (100–94%), B (93–87%), C (86–80%), D (79–73%), E (72–65%). Credits are assigned to the student who collects the minimum of 65 points (%). a) continuous assessment: Analysis and evaluation of complaints/needs/issues: 0–20 p. Preparation of activities: 0–25 p. Implementation of these activities: 0–25 p. Total: 0–70 p. b) final assessment: Completing the final self-reflective evaluation report addressing the activities performed and their results including the relevant appendices (activity plan, promotion, list of attendees, photo documentation), and recommendations 0–30 p.
Learning objectives: The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. is able to identify the needs and problems of the tutored students 2. can efficiently communicate with the student community 3. can independently provide consulting activities

4. navigates the academic environment well enough to provide useful advice
5. creates a communication platform on a social network and uses it efficiently
6. can evaluate other students' needs
7. can select appropriate forms of promotion of their activities
8. can evaluate the benefit of their creative activities and present their results.

Brief outline of the course:

The tutor cooperates with the department ECTS coordinators in consulting and providing information on study issues to students in accordance with the study rules and valid legislation. They self-study the study regulations. In cooperation with the study advisor, they arrange meetings with new students at the beginning of the academic year.

They inform the new students about life at the university, their rights and responsibilities, and explain the principles of credit study. They advise students on the selection of courses and creation of study plans in AiS2. They share their own experience with the selection and acquisition of study literature, studying for exams, individual study possibilities, scholarships, and participating in student organisations. They identify, analyse, and evaluate the tutored students' needs (e.g. via an online survey). In cooperation with the department study advisor and other student tutors, they prepare informational presentations and discussions, and promotes them. They inform other students on important dates in the academic schedule. They collect complaints and ideas, evaluate, and communicate study related issues to the relevant employees. They communicate via an appropriate social media platform as well.

8. can evaluate the benefit of their creative activities and present their results.

Brief outline of the course:

The tutor cooperates with the department ECTS coordinators in consulting and providing information on study issues to students in accordance with the study rules and valid legislation. They self-study the study regulations. In cooperation with the study advisor, they arrange meetings with new students at the beginning of the academic year.

They inform the new students about life at the university, their rights and responsibilities, and explain the principles of credit study. They advise students on the selection of courses and creation of study plans in AiS2. They share their own experience with the selection and acquisition of study literature, studying for exams, individual study possibilities, scholarships, and participating in student organisations. They identify, analyse, and evaluate the tutored students' needs (e.g. via an online survey). In cooperation with the department study advisor and other student tutors, they prepare informational presentations and discussions, and promotes them. They inform other students on important dates in the academic schedule. They collect complaints and ideas, evaluate, and communicate study related issues to the relevant employees. They communicate via an appropriate social media platform as well.
