Number of credits: 5
Recommended semester/trimester: 3.
Level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course completion conditions: The maximum number of points consisting of continuous and final assessment is 100. Credits are assigned to the student who acquires the minimum of 65 points out of the possible 100 for completing the given requirements. a) continuous assessment: Processing the selected text chapter: 0–25 p. Specialised essay and its presentation: 0–25 p. b) final assessment: Final specialised essay: 0–25 p. Final written exam: 0–25 p.
Learning objectives: The student 1. has complex systematic theoretical, specialised, and methodological knowledge of environmental ethics and the way normative ethics is applied to a specific set of theoretical and practical problems/questions 2. understands the axiological theories and values in the context of nature and natural entities as well as the theoretical approaches to environmental ethics 3. can explain the links between science, evolutionary thinking, environmental and ecological ethics; can justify the non-instrumental value of nature and natural entities, describe and categorise the variability of approaches (human – nature). 4. reflects the ethical problems in a critical way, approaches them creatively and applies their analytical competences in practice to evaluate moral judgement, decision-making, taking actions, and can justify norms. 5. understands the basic theoretical postulates in contemporary eco-ethical discourse and can evaluate certain practical problems from a specific theoretical viewpoint.
Brief outline of the course: 1. Environmental ethics as a type of applied ethics. From ecology to ecological and environmental ethics – interdisciplinarity and transdisciplinarity. Environmental vs. ecological. Environmentalism. Ecologism. 2. Moral-philosophical implications of ecological sciences in the eco-ethical discourse. Ecological knowledge as a path to harmony between humans and the Earth.

3. The historical and philosophical roots of the human vs. nature relationship in western thinking. The genesis of environmental ethics.
4. Naturalism, critical realism, and constructivism in environmental ethics. Nature as an ontological-evolutionary category (J. Dewey's evolutionary naturalism, H. Jonas' new ontology of nature, J. Šmajs' evolutionary ontology – a comparative analysis).
5. Values, assessment, the relationship of values and knowledge in environmental ethics.
6. Moral pluralism and monism, anthropocentric vs. non-anthropocentric value approaches and reasoning in environmental ethics.
7. Theoretical methodological approaches in environmental ethics. A. Leopold's land ethic. A. Schweitzer's reverence for life.
8. Ecophilosophy and ecoethics of Henryk Skolimowski. New reading of nature and new cosmology. New value orientation and the idea of a sacred world.
9. Ethics for a technological civilisation. H. Jonas: ethic of responsibility and heuristics of fear.
10. F. Capra and the search for an ecological paradigm in holism. J. E. Lovelock and the Gaia hypothesis as a known necessity in ecological ethics.

Course Description

University: Matej Bel University in Banská Bystrica
Faculty: Faculty of Arts
Code: 2d-lsl3-03	Course name: Literature and Service Learning 3
Type, extent and method of instruction: Form of instruction: Seminar Course type: C (A - Compulsory courses, B - Compulsory elective courses, C - Elective courses) Recommended number of periods: 26 Method of study: combined
Number of credits: 3
Recommended semester/trimester: 1., 3.
Level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course completion conditions: The student undergoes theoretical preparation to understand the point of service learning as a strategy and develops the selected competences (team work, planning, promotion, evaluation). They actively participate in the identification of community needs and presents the findings. Based on this, the student describes the default situation in which the service learning activity will take place and consults it with the instructor. Subsequently, the student drafts their service learning project (default situation, service goals, educational goals, schedule, information of partners, promotion, funding, evaluation methods). The project draft is, again, consulted with the instructor. The student selects the target group and project goals in accordance with their study field and focuses on developing their own text-work competences as well. This course builds on the Literature and Service learning 1 course and enhances the theoretical knowledge of service learning. a) continuous assessment: (10) Active participation in block classes (3 blocks) (10) Consultations (10) Flexibility and appropriate communication (20) Identification of the needs and formulation of the goals (20) Quality of the project draft (the plan form) b) final assessment: Based on the continuous assessment (70%), self-assessment (15%), group assessment (15%). The grading scale: A (100–94%), B (93–87%), C (86–80%), D (79–73%), E (72–65%). To collect the credits, the student has to score at least 65% in each activity (or at least 65% in total).
Learning objectives: Upon completion of this course, the student 1. can explain the point of service learning 2. can work in a team and communicate in an appropriate way 3. can analyse their own needs as well as the needs of the community 4. can formulate the service learning goals based on these needs 5. can prepare a service learning project addressing actual needs and achieve the goals specified 6. understands the importance of personal and social responsibility and civic engagement

Brief outline of the course:

1. The point of service learning.
2. Team work and communication competence development.
3. Identifying the community needs.
4. How to determine the service and educational goals.
5. Planning as a competence – importance, steps.
6. Time management – importance and principles.
7. Promotion before and after the activity takes place.
8. How to evaluate the activities.
9. Service learning project draft.
10. Service learning project draft – evaluation.

Number of credits: 4
Recommended semester/trimester: 1., 3.
Level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course completion conditions: a) continuous assessment: participation in SILab activities – 50% of the overall grade b) final assessment: preparation and presentation of a semester project – 50% of the overall grade Within the continuous assessment, students complete assignments based on project-oriented learning implemented in the Social Innovation Living Lab (SILab) environment. The assessment includes active participation in classes and SILab activities, as well as participation in activities carried out in cooperation with external partners from practice. The final assessment consists of the preparation and presentation of a semester project focused on proposing a solution to a specific real-world problem (e.g., a business model, an innovative solution, a strategy, etc.). A student receives a “passed” grade if they achieve at least 65% of the total course evaluation by fulfilling the specified requirements. A resit for the continuous assessment can be completed no later than the last week of teaching and ongoing study obligations and consists of completing substitute assignments. A resit for the final assessment can be completed during the period designated for completing study obligations and consists of a revised or newly prepared semester project and its presentation, focused on proposing a solution to a specific real-world problem.
Learning objectives: The student: 1. uses appropriate scientific and analytical methods to solve assignments and is able to independently and methodologically correctly address research and applied tasks, 2. applies methods of collecting and processing primary and secondary data in practice, evaluates their suitability, formulates research questions and proposes solutions, 3. designs solutions to problems including an action plan and implementation strategy, applying principles of innovation ecosystems and smart solutions in public, private, and non-profit sectors, 4. designs and tests solutions in a living lab (SILab) using participatory approaches, creates and evaluates business models with regard to sustainability and ESG, 5. works with data and digital tools in designing solutions, 6. uses participatory and co-creation approaches when engaging stakeholders, 7. evaluates the social and economic impact of solutions, integrates knowledge from different disciplines, and presents results to both professional and general audiences.

Type, extent and method of instruction: Form of instruction: Course type: C (A - Compulsory courses, B - Compulsory elective courses, C - Elective courses) Recommended number of periods: Method of study: combined
Number of credits: 3
Recommended semester/trimester: 1., 3.
Level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course completion conditions: At the beginning of the semester, the student reads the study regulations and identifies the needs of students who need tutorship. Upon consulting with the department study advisor, the student creates a plan of awareness raising activities. During the semester, the student performs awareness raising activities. Upon completion of the semester, they draft a self-reflective evaluation report. a) continuous assessment: analysis and evaluation of complaints/needs/issues: 0–20 p. Preparation of activities: 0–25 p. Implementation of these activities: 0–25 p. Total: 0–70 p. b) final assessment: completing the final self-reflective evaluation report addressing the activities performed and their results including the relevant appendices (activity plan, promotion, list of attendees, photo documentation), and recommendations 0–30 p. The grading scale: A (100–94%), B (93–87%), C (86–80%), D (79–73%), E (72–65%). Credits are assigned to the student who collects the minimum of 65 points (%).
Learning objectives: The student: 1. is able to identify the needs and problems of the tutored students 2. can communicate properly within the student community 3. can independently provide consulting activities 4. navigates the academic environment well enough to provide useful advice 5. creates a communication platform on a social network and uses it efficiently 6. can evaluate other students' needs 7. can select appropriate forms of promotion of their activities 8. can evaluate the benefit of their creative activities and present their results.
Brief outline of the course: The tutor cooperates with the department ECTS coordinators in consulting and providing information on study issues to students in accordance with the study rules and valid legislation.

They self-study the study regulations. In cooperation with the study advisor, they arrange meetings with new students at the beginning of the academic year. They inform the new students about life at the university, their rights and responsibilities, and explain the principles of credit study. They advise students on the selection of courses and creation of study plans in AiS2. They share their own experience with the selection and acquisition of study literature, studying for exams, individual study possibilities, scholarships, and participating in student organisations. They identify, analyse, and evaluate the tutored students' needs (e.g. via an online survey). In cooperation with the department study advisor and other student tutors, they prepare informational presentations and discussions, and promotes them. They inform other students on important dates in the academic schedule. They collect complaints and ideas, evaluate, and communicate them to the responsible staff. They communicate via an appropriate social media platform as well.
